CHILTON, WISCONSIN—Briess Malt & Ingredients Co. has released the third malt in its new Maltster's Reserve Series. Midnight Wheat Malt is a seasonal malt available now through September for the next season's brews. Exceptionally dark but smooth flavored, it is well suited for dark but lighter flavored beers like Black IPAs and Schwarzbiers, and other dark beers.

Midnight Wheat Malt, 550° Lovibond, has no bitter, astringent, dry flavors or aftertaste. It starts slightly sweet, contributes mild roasted/chocolate/coffee flavors and finishes exceptionally clean.

The Maltster's Reserve Series is a series of four seasonal malts, one every season for the next season's brews. They are all permanent additions to the Briess product line. For more information on Midnight Wheat Malt and the Maltster's Reserve Series visit BrewingWithBriess.com/Products/SeasonalMalts.htm.

Briess malts are sold directly to licensed breweries and authorized distributors, and are sold to homebrew shops through authorized distributors.
